OPPOSITION PEAK PASSED IN BATTLE FOR VOTE ON BEER

MADDOO DEMANDS INCLUSION OF WINE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(P)—Inclusion of a provision for light wines in the projected beer bill at the short session of congress was urged as a means of enabling California grape growers to "continue their existence," in a letter from William G. Maddoo, democratic senator-elect from California, to Speaker John N. Garner, vice president-elect, made public today.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(P)—Opposition to a house vote on prohibition repeal Monday apparently reached a new peak today and then quickly diminished as both democratic and republican members began conceding that the quicker the question is disposed of the better.

Encouraged by reports that more than 100 republicans would vote for his flat repeal and state convention proposal, Speaker Garner said today that it was his intention to carry out his plan for action almost as soon as congress convenes.

In addition, a large group of southern democrats, who had registered opposition to the proposal, told the vice president-elect they had decided the issue should come to a vote Monday to clear the way for consideration of other pressing legislation.

A division of opinion over the form the resolution should take appeared for a time to imperil possible action Monday. Some members favored submitting the proposition to legislatures for ratification and others declared for provisions to outlaw the saloon and guarantee federal protection to dry states.

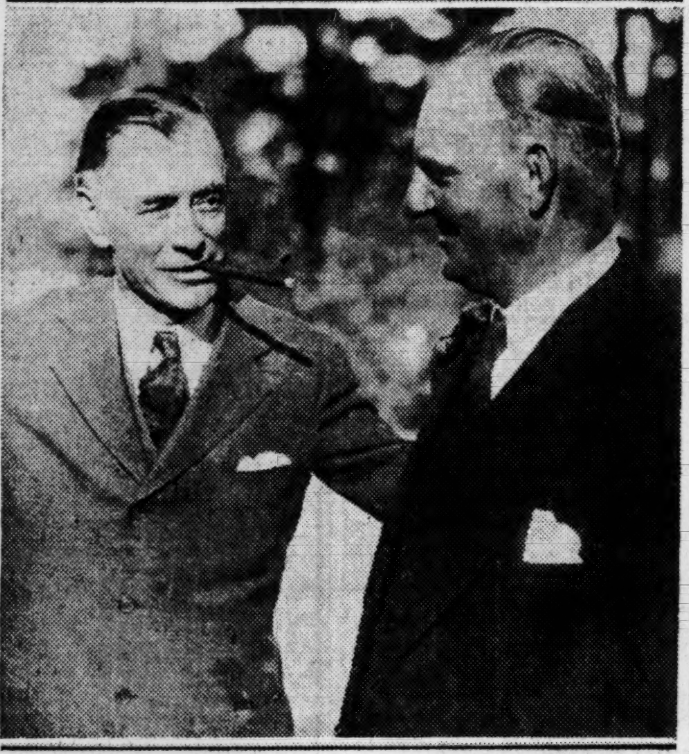

These views are to be considered by the judiciary committee Friday. Chairman Sumners will ask its authority to submit the proposal to the states. Sumners conferred with the speaker today and agreed to take charge of the resolution if directed by his committee, although he favors ratification by the legislatures.

Referring to the plans in the democratic and republican national platforms calling for immediate consideration by congress of the prohibition question and the ratification of the proposed new amendment to state conventions, Garner asked:

"In view of the declarations by the parties and the results of the recent election, how could I do otherwise than to ask for outright repeal at once and ratification by conventions? It is our duty to keep good faith."

Earlier the speaker said he would canvass the situation to determine by Saturday whether a majority of the

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt said in this week's Liberty magazine that he intended to lead congress as "the constitution clearly contemplated that the presidency might," after he takes office March 4.

The governor interpreted his election as "a mandate truly national in scope" and said he hoped to co-operate with the whole congress, democrats and republicans alike.

"The vote was an expression of determination to meet the depression boldly and to give the American people a new deal in their political and economic life," the governor wrote.

"Foremost among the policies I have emphasized is the invitation to forward-looking men of all parties to enlist in a common cause. It goes without saying that in the relations between the executive and the legislative branches of the government this principle will be realized. I hope to co-operate with the whole congress, democrats and republicans alike.

"The constitution, however, clearly contemplated that the presidency might, without overstepping its proper functions, provide a degree of leadership for the various points of view represented in the congress. This leadership it shall be my primary purpose to provide," he said.

About the make-up of his official family, the governor wrote:

"Those whom I shall call to join with me in bearing the responsibilities of this administration will be men of the highest caliber and of the highest integrity. They will be men of the highest caliber and of the highest integrity."

SENATOR CUTTING INVITED TO VISIT PRESIDENT-ELECT

Roosevelt To Deal Personally With G. O. P. Bolters Who Supported Him, Is Indication.

CUTTING ACCEPTS, LEAVES FOR EAST

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 29.—(P)—United States Senator Brown Cutting, progressive republican, tonight announced he had accepted an invitation from Franklin D. Roosevelt to visit the president-elect at Warm Springs, Ga. Senator Cutting will leave tonight for Washington to attend the opening of congress December 5 and said he would stop off at Warm Springs en route to the national capital.

The New Mexico senator was one of the republican independents in the senate who campaigned for the New York governor.

BY W. B. RAGSDALE.
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 29.—(P)—An indication that Franklin D. Roosevelt would deal personally with republican independents who supported him came today with word from the president-elect that he had invited Senator Cutting, of New Mexico, to visit him at Warm Springs.

In a press conference held as he was leaving a meeting of the Georgia Forestry Association where he had made a talk, Mr. Roosevelt said that he had invited all of those who would follow the southern route on their way to Washington to come by Warm Springs.

He said he understood that Senator Johnson, of California, another of the independent republicans who supported him, was traveling to Washington by another route and that he had not yet heard whether Cutting would be able to come to Warm Springs.

His conference that preceded his attendance at the meeting of the Forestry Association brought two principal groups to his Hilltop cottage. They were headed by Representative Vinson, of Georgia, chairman of the house naval committee, and Representative Hill, of Alabama, author of the Muscle Shoals measure, which has been passed by the house and is awaiting action by the senate agriculture committee.

Among his other visitors were Clark Howell, publisher of The Atlanta Constitution, and W. T. Anderson, publisher of the Macon Telegraph.

In his speech before the forestry association meeting the president-elect told of the advantages of practicing tree cultivation and converting submarginal farmland into forest.

"It is a question of land use," he said, "a question of putting every acre

Gas Earnings Less Than Interest Charges, Alston Tells Commission in Rate Hearing

Participants in Tuesday's brief hearing of the Atlanta Gas Light Company rate case before the Georgia public service commission are shown above. In the top picture are, from left to right, W. T. Harrison, president of the South Side Civic Federation; Thomas W. Jones, attorney representing Kirkwood consumers, and Assistant Attorney-General John I. Kelley. In the lower picture are Marion Smith, attorney for the gas company; Eugene Stern, division manager of Georgia and Florida for the gas company, outside of Atlanta, and W. W. Winter, vice president and general manager of the gas company. Staff photos by George Cornett.

The Atlanta Gas Light Company's interest charges alone for the 12 months ended October 31, 1932, were greater by $27,000 than its entire net earnings, Robert C. Alston, Atlanta attorney, Tuesday told the Georgia public service commission in a brief hearing on a rule nisi requiring the gas company to show cause why rates should not be revised.

The gas case was called after Chairman James A. Perry, of the public service commission, announced indefinite suspension of the electric rate case involving the service charge of the Georgia Power Company. Trial of the gas case also was suspended indefinitely, after appearances were made and the company's answer was filed.

The public service commission on Monday will open a series of hearings throughout the state in connection with electric rates of the power company. The first meeting will be in Augusta. The commission will meet in March on December 29 and in Columbus and home on dates to be announced later. After the out-of-Atlanta sessions of the commission, the local hearing on electric rates will be reopened for arguments and the filing of briefs, it was said.

Assistant Attorney-General John I. Kelley, who is assigned to the commission, said Tuesday that when the electric rate hearing is reopened he will press his fight for a new appraisal of the power company's property. City Attorney James L. Mayson

'DICK' GALLOGLY ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Takes Poison But After Stomach Pump Is Used Condition Not Serious.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 29.—(P)—Prison authorities said Tuesday that Richard G. Gallogly, serving a life sentence for murder, attempted to commit suicide early today by swallowing poison.

Officials of the state penitentiary said Gallogly was taken to the Milledgeville hospital at 8:30 this morning by the prison physician, and that Gallogly's condition late today was not considered serious. The poison had been extracted by use of a stomach pump.

Gallogly was a trusty at the prison and authorities said that the medicine he swallowed had been given to him for use on an infected foot.

The prisoner was convicted of murder in connection with the slaying of a clerk in a drugstore in Atlanta. George Harsh also was convicted of the slaying and is serving a life sentence. At their trial the prosecution charged the slaying was done "for a thrill."

A hearing before the state prison commission on application for parole of Gallogly has been set for December 5.

Group Payment Plan Urged For Nation's Medical Bills

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(U)—The Committee on the Cost of Medical Care issued its report today, carrying radical recommendations for the placing of the nation's doctors on a group payment basis.

This plan would embrace payment of medical and hospital bills through either an insurance plan or by taxation, or possibly by a combination of the two, instead of each family paying its own doctor's fees whenever he is consulted.

The proposal came from a group composed of 48 physicians, public health officers, economists and representatives of various institutions. The five-year period they had conducted 24 studies with financial backing of the Carnegie Corporation, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Julius Rosewald Fund, the Russell Sage Foundation and other similar bodies.

The report, presented at a national conference at the Academy of Medicine here, was not unanimous, but represented a majority opinion of the group. Sixteen of the 24 doctors of medicine on the committee upheld it, as did 7 of the 11 other members engaged in other forms of medical and health work, and 12 out of 13 economists. A minority report presented urged that "government competition in the practice of medicine be discontinued and that its ac-

LONDON MAY SEND NEW NOTE TODAY

French Premier Struggles To Stave Off Debate in Chamber and Non-Payment Resolution.

BRITAIN WILL PAY, SAYS LONDON PAPER

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(Wednesday)—(U)—The Morning Post said today that it had learned authoritatively that Great Britain has decided to pay its war debts installment to the United States on December 15.

Final details of the note which will inform the United States of this decision will be arranged at a cabinet meeting this morning, the Post said.

By the Associated Press.

Britain's second note to the United States, advancing arguments in support of the contention that the December 15 payment should be passed, was considered and approved by the cabinet Tuesday and Prime Minister MacDonald discussed the problem with the king as the pound sought new low levels.

Meanwhile at Paris a considerable group of deputies advocated a declaration by France that it was impossible to pay the debts; Premier Herriot tried to stave off general discussion of the issue in the chamber. Discussions were he would not succeed.

Washington officials remained incommunicative, awaiting the next move from abroad. Senator Johnson, of California, made a strong declaration against any "tinkering" with the debts.

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS APPROVES
NEW NOTE TO WASHINGTON

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(P)—Final approval of Britain's new debt appeal to the United States was given by the cabinet after a two-hour meeting tonight and it was expected the note would be dispatched tomorrow to Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador in Washington.

It will be made public in Washington probably Thursday or Friday.

The cabinet meeting followed a one-hour conference between Premier MacDonald and King George at Buckingham Palace.

While finishing touches were being put to the appeal for suspension of the December payment of $95,500,000 and for review of the whole Anglo-American debt funding agreement, the pound sterling dropped today to a new all time low, $3.14 5/8. It closed at $3.15 1/2.

While Britain will press its case for revision in the strongest possible terms, there was a growing belief here that the December payment will be made promptly, according to the American press does not yield. In no responsible government quarters has there been a markets by Secretary J. C. Mohler, of Kansas. Heads of state agricultural departments favored farm relief through lower taxes, refinancing of farmers at low interest rates and the "honest dollar." No general agreement was attempted at today's session.

Commissioner William A. He also denounced high tariffs as preventing other nations from selling their goods in the United States in exchange for farm produce.

Arkansan Flees Fancied Pursuers And Dies of Fear and Exhaustion

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Phantom pursuers apparently drove W. R. Beam, 40, to his death from fear and exhaustion.

His body was found yesterday in the woods five miles south of here, into which he fled at sight of two officers who neither knew nor suspected him.

Beam, his wife and five children, who had lived at Shirley, 25 miles south of here, set out with his family on a truck last Thursday for Chattanooga, Tenn.

As they stopped in front of a store at Ridgewood, a deputy sheriff and a game warden drove up. Beam was said to have asked bystanders who the men were. When they told him they were officers, Beam handed his wife a package and told her to get a driver to take her and the children on their way, and that he would meet them in Memphis.

He then departed hurriedly, climbed over a fence and disappeared into the woods. His family left. His body was found yesterday less than a mile from the store.

At the coroner's inquest evidence was given that before Beam left Shirley he drew out of a bank what money he had on deposit and subsequently wrote several checks against the account.

Officers held the theory he feared the officers were looking for him and died of a heart attack, brought on by fear and exhaustion in his flight.

A card found on him indicated he was a member of the American Legion post at Brookfield, Tenn. Authorities were unable to communicate with his wife and the body was buried today under auspices of the American Legion.

BUILDINGS AND ROADS HELPING EMPLOYMENT

Some Improvement Shown
Last Month, U. S. Service
Reports.

The United States employment service said Tuesday that federal building projects and state federal-aid highway construction increased employment in Georgia last month.

Cotton mill operations showed a decided improvement, but state and woodworking plants, railroad-repair shops and fertilizer and lumber plants remained closed. Oil and sugar refinery activities were better normal, but several cotton mills and a candy factory operated at full capacity with some over-time reported.

The cotton canners resumed operations and the majority of other industries worked on curtailed schedules. There was a general surplus of labor, most unemployed by more than half. The general situation there in the textile industry was regarded as highly encouraging.

Building consisted chiefly of federal projects, highways and dwellings. Industrial employment showed a slight improvement last month. Several textile and dress manufacturing plants employed double shifts. Grifflin reported no material improvement with most plants working on part-time schedules. Rome reported some improvement. Two new factories were entered production during the month. The textile industry at Rome continued active.

With exception of cotton mills, overall factories and meat plants all industries in the Macon district worked on curtailed schedules. Three cotton mills reopened on full time in the district.

Textile mills in Columbus reported improved conditions. A hosiery mill there stepped up operations and another mill increased its force by more than half. The general situation there in the textile industry was regarded as highly encouraging.

VICTIMS OF ACCIDENTS RECOVERING AT GRADY

Two persons seriously injured in auto accidents in Atlanta reported Tuesday night as in better condition, while six others less seriously injured were released after treatment at Grady hospital to return to their homes.

Emory Howard, 22, of 32 North avenue, believed to have sustained a fractured skull in an accident at Plum and Hickcutt streets Tuesday morning when his car crashed into a pole, was said to be slightly improved.

Mrs. Alice Adams, 25, of 683 Cooper street, who was given more than 50 stitches to close cuts on the face and arm, was reported as recovering. The accident in which she was injured occurred on Moreland avenue near Flat Shoals road when the bumpers of two cars locked. A. L. Adams, Mrs. Adams' husband, was steering a disabled car and the one in which Mrs. Adams was riding and pushing the other was driven by G. W. Adams, of 627 Means street. The latter and Mrs. B. M. Morgan, of 681 Cooper street, also were slightly injured.

Others injured slightly in the crash which sent Howard to the hospital were Emmett Melton, 744 Jefferson street; Alonzo Pitts, 680 Boss avenue; and Armer Prater, 782 Jefferson street. After treatment at Grady hospital they were released.

Fulton County Board To Fix Salaries Today

Fulton county commissioners will hold a special session at the courthouse at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of fixing the 1933 salaries of the department heads who are elected by ballot.

It is not known whether the salaries will be reduced. However, the grand jury recently recommended further cuts in the salaries of all employees who are not absolutely essential. The Taxpayers' League also has advocated such a movement.

It was learned that the board will consider the current operating budget today as well as a budget for 1933, and that the commissioners will demand that all departments operate within their reduced budgets in 1933.

George Longino, chairman of the finance committee, was in conference with bankers Tuesday making plans for today's meeting.

The departmental heads whose salaries will be set today include the sheriff, clerk of superior court, tax receiver, tax collector, solicitor-general, ordinary and solicitor of the city criminal court.

MRS. NEEL HEADS STATE ASSOCIATION AGAINST LYNCHING

Mrs. W. J. Neel, of the staff of Bessie Tift College, former president of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Georgia Baptist convention, and one of the best-known women in the state, has accepted the chairmanship of the Georgia Association for the Prevention of Lynching.

This association, organized two years ago, now has a membership of more than 1,200 Georgia women, most of them in positions of leadership in their respective communities and religious groups. Each has signed personally a statement denouncing mob violence, repudiating the claim that lynching is necessary for the protection of womanhood, and pledging the signer's earnest efforts to create a public opinion that will no longer tolerate the lynching habit.

The Georgia association is a branch of the Southern Association of Women for the Prevention of Lynching, which has a total membership of more than 7,000. "A lynches year in 1932" is the announced goal of these organizations.

COMPANY DESCRIBES PIRATE CHEST RADIO

Details of the Pirate Chest Radio, the latest development of Majestic in the low-priced field, were announced on Wednesday by the Capital Electric Company, distributors.

The chest has the antique appearance and beauty of an actual pirate chest, the company said.

"The chassis is compactly constructed. It is a four-tube, using the newer type tubes, which include spray-shield tubes G-27 and 68 AS. The dynamic speaker is incorporated in the top, making it possible for the set to be played either open or closed. Its sensitivity and selectivity are unusual for this class of merchandise."

"It is particularly well adapted not only to the purchaser of low-priced radio sets, but also for that great market of Christmas buyers. The measurements of the Majestic Pirate Chest are 10-3/4 inches long, 8 inches wide, 9-13-1/2 high."

Group Will Take Yuletide Cheer Into Homes of Atlanta's Needy

With the design of making sure that needy families in Atlanta are not forgotten in the distribution of Atlanta's Christmas bounty this year, and that the city's gifts will be spread to reach as many of the 11,000 empty homes of unemployed as possible, an organization set to work Tuesday.

Real service and helpfulness, freed of patronizing and embarrassing almsgiving, were announced as objectives of the plan devised by the Social Welfare Council through creation of a Central Christmas giving committee, headed by Joe L. McMillin, Atlanta insurance man, and G. K. Seiden, an official of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, as co-chairmen.

The Social Welfare Council is composed of representatives of every industry in Atlanta and numerous organizations, including business, church leaders, women active in humane works and social workers.

As explained by Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the committee, the committee will work closely with relief agencies and the general public. It will cooperate with the Social Service Index of the Community Chest in trying to make sure that all giving is done on the basis of need only, and in the interest of home life.

"There has always been a great deal of pauperizing assistance," Dr. McCain wrote in a letter to Mr. McMillin, "with too great emphasis on the personal element. We are most hopeful that this year we can break away from that and put the matter on a basis of real service."

Other members of the committee are Dr. Heron L. Turner, Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, A. Steve Nance, Mrs. Mary Ansley Miller, Mrs. Mabel Curry, Miss Angela Cox, Major J. Arthur Fynn, Mrs. William E. Huger, James Morton and Dr. C. R. Stauffer.

Motor Disasters in Southeast Show Necessity of Protection

"Atlanta lawyer killed by auto." "Nineteen-year-old Georgia Tech freshman seriously injured when his car skidded and crashed into a telephone pole on West Hunter street near Ashby street. Two other occupants of the car were also hurt in the same wreck."

That is only a part of the record of death and injury that was recorded in The Sunday Constitution due to the ever-mounting accident wave—the greatest common problem of today.

Other cities in Georgia swelled the total to an alarming figure, and the entire southeast was swept by the usual epidemic of disasters resulting from traffic mishaps.

This is your big problem. Are you protected against it? Is your income insured against abrupt halt in event you become a victim of an accident? Is your financial security, your family safe-guarded? It's your solemn duty to see that these things are attended to.

Insure yourself against the scourge today!

The Constitution offers you the famous travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, Ill. This insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family. The cost of 15 to 60 on the one subscription going into that home at the small registration fee of $1 each per policy per year.

Master Sergeant Stark Retires After 30 Years' Service in Army

Master Sergeant George F. Stark, a soldier of the old school, retired Tuesday after more than 30 years' service in the army. He was honored Tuesday night at a banquet given by members of the quartermaster detachment at Fort McPherson, Brigadier General George L. Estes, commanding officer of the Eighth brigade and of Fort McPherson, made a brief talk and Colonel William Henry Noble spoke of the best service of Master Sergeant Stark, Captain Mark Brunson, U. S. A., post quartermaster, presided.

Sergeant Stark entered the service in 1900 and was detailed for duty with the Third infantry, the gallant old regiment organized immediately after the Revolutionary War. Upon the death of President McKinley, a guard of soldiers from the Third was detailed as an honor guard and Sergeant Stark was one of the 50 men selected for this service, acting as bugler and sounding taps as the casket of the late president was lowered into the grave.

As a member of the Third he took part in the campaign in the Philippines an encountered the hostile

Moros. During the World War he served as quartermaster with Battery A of the 342d railroad artillery, service in the army. He was commended for his service with the unit. He served three enlistments with the Seventeenth infantry and was promoted to the grade of sergeant. Later he transferred to the quartermaster corps as technical sergeant. Last winter he was appointed master sergeant and etres from active duty in that grade. He makes his home at East Point, where he has farming interests.

As a token of the esteem of officers and men, both soldiers and civilians of the quartermaster corps, he was presented a handsome gold watch bearing the inscription, "George F. Stark, Master Sergeant, Q. M. Corps. Presented by Officers, Civilians and Enlisted Men of the Q. M. Corps of Fort McPherson, November 30, 1932."

Among the guests attending the dinner were General Estes, Colonel Noble, Major Francis Fuller, Captain Brunson, Captain Thomas H. Hamsey, Captain Hubert Boyette, Lieutenant Charles Laidon, Lieutenant Douglas McNaair and Lieutenant R. H. Torovsky.

DR. ABERCROMBIE STRESSES DANGER OF GERM-CARRIERS

Fifteen persons were killed by direct tubercular infection from one person, Dr. T. P. Abercrombie, state director of public health, said Tuesday in addressing the Atlanta Rotary Club.

Dr. Abercrombie stressed the menace of germ carriers, which he termed the outstanding public health problem in the state at present. He said one health officer found that 56 years ago a woman had tuberculosis. He traced those who had contact with her and their descendants and found this one case was the cause of 15 deaths, besides several cases now being treated. He said this woman still lives at the age of 76.

"Typhoid and tuberculosis are being spread principally by human carriers," Dr. Abercrombie said, and added his department is trying now to locate as many carriers as possible.

NEW DRILL ROUTINE IS ALREADY IN USE BY 122D INFANTRY

The old commands of "squad right" and "squad left" may still be familiar to many military units, but to Atlanta's own 122d infantry regiment the time-worn commands are all but a dim memory. For it was last summer when they took up the new close order drill routine and used it in two parades in Atlanta recently, on Armistice Day and in the welcome to President-elect Roosevelt a few weeks ago, according to Colonel Gerald P. O'Keefe, commander.

Other units ordered to take up the drill were the 121st infantry and the Third tank regiment of Georgia. Other units have been experimenting with the new maneuvers during the last 18 months. The new regulations will go into effect throughout the entire military system of the army by March or April, officers said.

ENGINEER DEFENDS COST OF WATERWAY

Additional $30,000,000 for Accrued Interest Necessary, Says Pillsbury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Complete confidence was expressed today by Brigadier General George H. Pillsbury, assistant chief of army engineers, that the St. Lawrence waterway could be completed within the official estimate of $543,000,000. He agreed with opponents of the project in his appearance before a senate committee, however, that $30,000,000 should be added to the American cost for accrued interest.

Pillsbury was the second witness as the committee continued its hearings of friends of the treaty signed with Canada last July for development of

Texas Dairy Company Robbed by Santa Claus

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Santa Claus visited a dairy company's office here today and took $180 away with him.

"I hate to do this, but I am out of a job and need money," the impersonator of Santa Claus told two employees. He and an unmasked companion threatened the employees with pistols.

As they were leaving they noticed a sack of money, conspicuously labeled "For Employees' Sick Benefit Fund."

Both the robbers read the label, and walked hurriedly from the office, leaving the money sack behind them.

Remarkable Progress Is Reported for Ford

DETROIT, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Henry Ford, a source close to his family said, was making "remarkable progress" tonight as he lay in his hospital bed convalescing from the emergency operation Saturday that brought him the first serious illness of his 69 years.

A man connected with the Ford organization who visited the patient in his two-room suite at Ford hospital said he "looked like a million dollars."

Four Vandy Players Named on Coaches' All-Conference Team

Bending in an Ear Here and There Where They Talk Sports.

Jack Dempsey, the one-time heavyweight champion, is reported planning to visit a socially known young lady of Atlanta during the Christmas holidays—when I called to ask yes or no she was in New York and could not answer.

John Chapman, who is just getting the six-day bike races started in New York, is a Georgia boy. His Georgia farm is near Palmetto. He named the dairy there "The Velodrome Dairy." You can see it from the road. I asked him once how he did financially with his farm and dairy. "If I kept books on it I'd close it up," he said. He started out in life carrying a route for The Constitution. He manages many of the larger velodromes.

Reggie McNamara, one of star bike riders, has had his collarbone broken 11 times, his skull fractured once, his nose broken twice, his jaw broken once and three or four ribs cracked during his career as a bike rider. And they say football is rough!

Someone forwards me a letter quoting a radio announcer saying that college football is doomed. He quotes a professor who witnessed the rather dull Tech-Georgia game in the mud. Which couldn't be any other way but dull. And says that interest will grow less and less as boys go to college to study. The colleges, he says, sold out to football and are returning to normalcy.

Dear me, and there are so many things wrong with radio programs. Why go bear hunting in someone else's backyard? But, nevertheless, here comes Georgia Tech's announcement that attendance, lacking the two big intersectional games of last season, is 12,000 better this year than last. And that with very pediculous weather on two of the big days.

And then there are the figures. Maybe it is the election of Roosevelt. But immediately after the election some 15,000 were turned away from the Army-Notre Dame game. And now comes the news that 78,000 tickets have already been sold to the Army-Navy game at Franklin field with no seats left and thousands clamoring for them. And from California come word that more than 70,000 tickets to the Notre Dame-Southern California game have been sold with the likelihood that the Olympic stadium, with 105,000 seats, will be sold out and thousands turned away.

Football is becoming even more of a fascinating game than it was before. It is just starting on another era of increased popularity. The pro game is coming along with the college game. People have learned to look for and admire the blocking and the things behind the touchdowns. They used to watch just the ball. The spectator at football is a new one.

Tommy Henderson, the great little quarterback of the Vanderbilt football team, is applying for an appointment to West Point. He expects to try for football, baseball and basketball teams if appointed. He is a letterman in those three at Vanderbilt.

Herman Hickman, former Tennessee All-American guard and for the past year a rasser, played football with the Brooklyn Dodgers Sunday. The Giants, lacking half a yard on fourth down, tried Hickman and lost a yard.

In the same game Stumpy Thomason, late of Georgia Tech, ran back punts to the Giants' 42 and 38-yard lines and then brought one back to the 25-yard line. (Dixie coaches with teams playing Tech will recall how they used to shut their eyes when Stumpy caught a punt.) He then took a pass from Benny Friedman and ran for a touchdown. The reporter said: "Surrounded by two Giants, Thomason gave his tacklers the hip, picked himself up, squirmed his way loose and plopped the ball over for a touchdown. He was hit FOUR times and pulled himself free." The same old Stump.

The Giants let Andy Reese go because they thought his legs were weak. The official averages show Reese led the Southern League with 33 stolen bases.

At the recent A. A. U. convention one of the delegates proudly told of trailing an amateur swimmer and finding him working nights as a life guard. So they banned him. The reason he worked nights was because he was unemployed and the job was the only one he could get. How I love those badge wearers!

THESE NEW CONTESTS.

Four golfers in a near-by city recently placed a wager on which of the foursome could violate the most golf rules. In playing the very first hole, the winner of the wager committed the following violations:

- Tied off in front of markers.
- Tied off out of turn.
- Asked bystanders distance to green.
- Grounded club when tee shot landed in hazard.
- Tossed rock out of hazard.
- Threw stick out of hazard.
- Dug out rock interfering with stance.
- Stamped ground behind ball.
- Pressed soil behind ball with club.
- Pulled up grass beside ball.
- Had caddy hold back tree branch.
- Placed bag in trap.
- Pushed sand away from ball with shoe.
- Asked spectator distance to green.
- Asked caddy condition of green.
- Picked up and cleaned ball.
- Walked on line of putt.
- Used putter to mark line of putt.
- Used putter to brush sand from line of putt.
- Tramped down rise in ground before hole.
- Pulled weed in line of putt.
- Used hand to brush off worm cast.
- Patted line of putt with putter.
- Traightened cup.
- Gave wrong information as to number of strokes.
- Refused to lift ball at opponent's request.
- Lifted own ball while opponent's was in motion.
- Stopped opponent's ball.
- Marked up incorrect score.

Which record will be broken on the first hole of the next Atlanta newspaper golf tournament, as Scott Hudson, George Sargent, Howard Beckett and many others can testify.

ATLANTA PROS NOT INTERESTED.

Formation of a "Playing Pros" organization, which is not a bolt from the P. G. A., does not interest local golf professionals.

The new association, led by Walter Hagen, means nothing, according to the Atlanta pros. It is formed by men who spend but little, if any, of their time with their clubs. They are constantly on the road, making tournaments.

The Professional Golfers' Association is stronger than ever and any bolting from it would be most unwise, was the consensus of opinion among the Atlanta professionals. Which is undoubtedly correct. The P. G. A. is built, as it should be, on the man who stays with his country club and who teaches the game and keeps the courses.

Baseball Abandoned By Ohio State U.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—(P)—The board of athletic control at Ohio State University today voted to abandon intercollegiate baseball, the first step in a refinancing program made necessary by a 50 per cent decrease in football receipts.

The board decided that baseball should be placed on an intramural basis with fencing, swimming, wrestling, polo, golf and other minor sports.

ALEXANDER'S TO PUT SQUAD BACK TO WORK

Tech Entrain in Ten Days; Resumes Practice on Thursday.

By Jimmy Jones.

While some of his coaching brethren are helping themselves to badly needed vacations, the face of William A. Alexander, coach at Georgia Tech, will wear that serious expression until after his jackets have played their game with California's Golden Bears at Berkeley on December 17.

After a flying trip to New York on his annual mission of helping select coaches' All-American team, Alexander returned to Atlanta yesterday, prepared to order full steam ahead for his football squad Thursday after a brief rest.

There is a two-fold purpose in Coach Alexander's eagerness to get his men back to work. In the first place, Tech has a chance of being nationally ranked as a pleasure junk, or at least making a highly creditable showing. The Bears, said to have their usual burly, but slow maneuvering team, have had an excellent season of their own and are by no means rated as favorites over Tech.

Last year the Jackets gave them a good scrap here while losing 19-6. NO PLEASURE TRIP. The second reason for resuming football practice Thursday is that the Jackets' entrance for the coast early 10 days from today and Alexander wishes it firmly understood among his squad that this cross-country trip is not essentially a pleasure junk.

"We're going out there primarily to play a football game; we can leave the fun for the return trip through the Panama canal," Coach Alexander said in discussing the game. So, beginning tomorrow, the Tech coaches will begin tuning up the team for another contest. In the event Alabama should defeat Mary's Saturday, Tech's 6-0 victory over the Tide will loom big in the eyes of coast writers and undoubtedly will serve to draw a big crowd for the California game.

Harry Mehre and H. J. Stegeman, of Georgia, were in Atlanta yesterday, insisting that Mr. Alexander accompany them to Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday, where they are going to see Tennessee wind up the season with Florida. The Tennessee team will play through here late Friday afternoon. But Coach Alex politely and firmly refused the invitation.

The head man of the Jackets announced that he wasn't going anywhere, excepting to California. For the first time since 1928 he will not attend the meeting of the Southern conference in Knoxville. He explained that he had remained in New York only one night—consisting of a taxi ride from the Pennsylvania station and back, allowing only time to place the Tech baggage in the trunk.

He said he would put in as much time as possible on his own football team here. DODD HELPS. Bobby Dodd, the Tech backfield coach, would like to accompany the Tennessee squad to Jacksonville, where he concluded a brilliant career in 1929, but must stay here to help with the Tech backfield.

The University of Georgia will be represented at the conference meeting by Coaches Mehre and Stegeman. These gentlemen will come here next Wednesday night and at 7:45 a. m. Thursday will leave with Al Duonan and the Atlanta party for Knoxville, so that they will be there in time for the coaches' banquet Thursday night. Professor A. H. Armstrong will represent Tech and may take a plane from Knoxville for the coast to arrange for the coming of the Tech team. Officials of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer already are making plans for the Tech players to meet all the movie stars and visit the studios.

A lively conference meeting is looked for this year. Principal discussion will deal with the admission of a quota of new players, and the basketball tournament for which the Raleigh (N. C.) Junior Chamber of Commerce is bidding; a readjustment of scholastic requirements; and a possible reopening of the annual question on splitting the conference. While nothing drastic is expected in this year, it is sure to be a topic for debate.

DENNY SHUTE WINS AT MIAMI

MIAMI BILTMORE GOLF COURSE, CORAL GABLES, Fla., Nov. 29.—(P)—Densmore Shute, modest 28-year-old professional from Cleveland, Ohio, today won the first of his golf club tourneys to overcome early leaders and was first place and $2,500 prize money in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore golf tournament with a record 18 holes.

Shute survived hard going through the last 36 holes with John Revolta, 21-year-old Menominee (Mich.) dark horse, and Ed Dudley, of Chicago, veteran of many golfing campaigns before he finally scored his 291 to the 292 of Revolta and the 293 of Dudley.

Paul Runyan, of West Chester, Pa., holding up the judges' final decision as to third place until darkness fell over the difficult Miami Biltmore golf course, was in fourth place with a 294, while Gene Sarazen, unable to score his second Miami Biltmore victory in succession, and Al Espinosa, of Akron, Ohio, were in fifth place with 296 each.

Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn.; Al Watrous, Detroit, and Joe Kirkwood, Chicago, did their bit to divide the richest purse in the world's 1932 golf tournaments as they scored 298s. Immediately behind them, at 299s, were Roland Hancock, Stoneham, Mass., who caused concern earlier in the tournament among the better known golfers; Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.; John Golden, Norton, Mass.; and Mike Turnesa, Elmford, N. Y.

Walter Hagen, of Detroit, divided honors at 300 strokes with Tommy Armour, Detroit's Scotsman; Tommy Creavy, Albany, N. Y.; and H. G. Picard, Charleston, S. C. Curtis Bryan, of Jacksonville, Fla., was low amateur and captured the silver trophy donated by Henry L. Doherty, utilities magnate and president of the Florida Year-Round Club. Bryan's score was 243-76—319.

By Dr. C. W. Spears, Head Football Coach, University of Wisconsin.

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) The all-Missouri Valley team presented here could stand against practically any all-sectional eleven from any other part of the country.

Besides Hokuf, Nebraska, and Schiele, Missouri, selected for the end positions, there was Penny, Nebraska, a very fast and aggressive end this season, and a great pass receiver. Tackle positions go to Meringer, Kansas, and Hulbert, Nebraska, both big, fine, aggressive players, with Gill, Missouri, close behind them.

There is a fine crop of centers. Besides Ely, Nebraska, the man selected, Young, Oklahoma, and Michael, Kansas State, are especially good. For quarterback there are fewer men of striking ability. Dunlap is being a good ball carrier and an excellent passer. The other halfback position goes to Mathis, Nebraska, a great open field runner, and a hard-driving goal.

Gram, at fullback, a hard line smasher and a great defensive back, gets the call over Sauer, Nebraska. Other outstanding backs in the Missouri Valley include Smith, Kansas; Greefe, Ames, and Russell, Kansas Aggies.

Cain in Shape, Tide Drills For Hour

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(P)—Encouraged by the rapid recovery of Harry (Hurry) Cain, fullback star who has been sick, the Alabama football squad worked out for more than an hour at the University of California at Los Angeles training field today.

Coach Frank Thomas said the team was in good shape except for a few mild cases of influenza, but he promises of have the Crimson Tide in fine form for its game with St. Mary's at San Francisco Saturday.

The squad arrived here early today, but passed up a sightseeing trip in order to take advantage of a morning rest before dashing through a hard workout in the afternoon. The team will arrive at San Francisco tomorrow morning, spending tonight on the train north.

The Alabamians ran through an extended signal drill after taking the train kinks out of their muscles and then finished off with a short defensive session against the gael plays. Thomas said he expected the team to win if further illness does not crop up in the squad. "That is, of course, if they play as they did in our last game here we left," he said. "We have no idea of underrating the Gaels. They are good, but we came out here to keep Alabama's California record clean."

Crackers To Assemble Team at Minor Confab

Atlanta Club To Get Early Start Next Season With Difficulties Ironed Out.

By Jimmy Jones.

Atlanta's three emissaries to the baseball meeting in Columbus, Ohio, next week—namely President Wilbert Robinson, Manager Charles Moore and Business Manager Chick Ross—hope to have the 1933 lineup of the Atlanta Crackers pretty well set when they get through powwowing with the various magnates congregating there.

Last year, one of the many failings of the club was the wrangling over the manager's situation which lasted all winter long and, in fact, was only settled a few weeks before the opening of practice with the appointment of Red Barron to succeed Johnny Dobbs.

Such a recurrence has been avoided this year by the speedy action of the club's present controllers in appointing an entire setup in November and then investing it with free authority to go ahead and make deals for Atlanta at the baseball marts, where many clubs have been known to "make" a pennant winner with a few sagacious moves for players.

While the naming of Moore and Robinson, former members of the Brooklyn organization, does not mean that the Crackers have affected a tie-up with that club, the fact that Moore has remained persons grata with the Dodgers may enable him to salvage some of his key players at Hartford and at Jersey City. These include several men whom the Brooklyn club will not be able to "farm out" again, as they are already in the system for the stipulated maximum of three years.

Such men will be obtainable by purchase. Some prize players are on this list, including Ike Boone, the slugger, Alabama outfielder, who has expressed a preference to play for Atlanta; Austin Moore, a right-handed pitcher; Jackie Warner, former infielder, and Bobby Reis, flashy young third-sacker.

And if Brooklyn is unable to land a new minor league farm to replace Jersey City, they may have a few players such as Seibert, the first baseman, to lend the Crackers.

There is an old baseball proverb that a pennant-winning team is not made in the spring, but in the winter. Atlanta's new officials have hearkened wisely to its meaning and have authorized Moore, Robinson and Ross to get together a club as soon as possible. So by the time the winds of March are whistling around the corner, it stands to reason that the Atlanta club capable of finishing in the first division may be ready to put on uniforms.

Dick Daviscourt, the California Grizzly, and George Zaharias, the tempestuous Greek, meet tonight in the feature two-hour limit match on Henry Weber's all-star wrestling card at the city auditorium, a card which looks like the class of the season to date.

Vying with the main event in interest is the one-hour semi-windup which brings together Pat O'Shocker, the blood-curdling encounter which seems to have authorized Moore, Robinson and Ross to get together a club as soon as possible. So by the time the winds of March are whistling around the corner, it stands to reason that the Atlanta club capable of finishing in the first division may be ready to put on uniforms.

A 15-minute preliminary between Atlanta middleweights will open the card promptly at 8:15 o'clock. From all indications, the fans are quite excited at the prospect of the blood-curdling encounter which seems to have authorized Moore, Robinson and Ross to get together a club as soon as possible. So by the time the winds of March are whistling around the corner, it stands to reason that the Atlanta club capable of finishing in the first division may be ready to put on uniforms.

Due to the expense involved in this card, Promoter Bill Hartman and Matchmaker Weber have been forced to raise the price on outside, box and dress circle seats to 30 cents, plus city and federal taxes. Balcony seats remain at 40 cents. A brisk advance sale, indicating a near-capacity house, has been reported at the Piedmont Hatters and the Miner & Carter Drug Co., where tickets will remain on sale throughout today, being transferred later this afternoon to the auditorium box office. The doors will open at 6:45 o'clock.

Head Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

Let me make it plain that this All-Southern eleven is a selection resulting from votes of the coaches of the Southern conference and is not my individual choice. This is perhaps the fairest method. I never could have the heart to select an All-Southern team entirely upon my own and disregard affection and gratitude for some faithful men on my Vanderbilt squad.

The team presented here would have great power, speed, punting and passing ability and unusual versatility. It would have marvelous team speed and team speed is vital, as all coaches know.

GREAT BACKS.

The coaches were greatly bothered in the selection of the backfield. It has been a long time since any one section could present five truly great backs. Roberts, Hitchcock, Feathers, Zimmerman and Cain compare with all-time great backs of any section.

I asked the coaches also to select players for an honor roll and I intended that this story should contain the names of all men deserving distinction. And to prepare one containing all justly entitled to be included would make the list too great for anybody's honor roll.

Even with a list so comprehensive, deserving men who came under my personal observation were not included in the list. And I am sure that they were clearly entitled to be on anybody's honor roll.

It does not seem fair, therefore, to present an honor roll I know does not include all men deserving distinction. And to prepare one containing all justly entitled to be included would make the list too great for anybody's honor roll.

MANY FINE PLAYERS. Besides the men in the trenches have their own rewards. They have the consciousness of duty well and they hold the affection and respect of their teammates in a measure very often not given the stars.

There were a great number of first-class players in the conference this year. As a matter of fact, there is not much difference between a really good man and a brilliant man. There were approximately 750 first-class players on the squads of the 23 conference colleges. Three hundred of these were splendid players and their work was essential to success.

The coaches chose a second All-Southern eleven, which provides places for some of these men. This second eleven puts Williams, of Georgia Tech, and Cain, of Alabama, in the line, Crawford, of Duke, and Aitken, of Tennessee, at tackle; Flowers, University of Mississippi, and Wilson, of Louisiana State, at guard; Taglies, Tennessee, center; Brackets, Tennessee, quarterback; Casey, of Virginia Polytechnic, and Woodward, of Clemson, at half, and Fortune, Vanderbilt, at fullback.

MITCHELL, HOYT GIVEN RELEASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(P)—Clarence Mitchell, last of the southpaw spitball pitchers, and Walter Hoyt, the "mole" of 15 years ago, today were cast adrift by the New York Giants as a part of Manager Bill Terry's rebuilding program.

Given their unconditional release under the 10-year rule, the two errand boysmen will be free to negotiate with any club for their services. Mitchell has pitched for six major league clubs since joining the Detroit Tigers in 1911. He spent this year in the minors with the Detroit Tigers. The 42-year-old hurler was traded to the Giants by the St. Louis Cardinals for Ralph Judd in May, 1930. His all-time major league record shows 123 victories against 133 defeats.

Hoyt's major league career during the past two years has been one of ups and downs. Following 10 years of brilliant pitching with the New York Yankees, during which he won six and lost three World Series games, Hoyt, as traded to the Tigers in May, 1930. A year later he was released to the Athletics on waivers in lieu of appearing in his seventh World Series.

After being given his unconditional release by the Athletics, Hoyt signed a contract with Brooklyn last spring and made unusual efforts to get back into condition. He reduced 30 pounds by fasting but failed to recover his former effectiveness in the box. He won only one game before the Dodgers released him in June. He joined the Giants soon afterward, winning five and losing seven. His complete major league record shows 196 victories and 141 defeats.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(P)—With 70,000 seats to the Notre Dame-University of Southern California game already sold, officials of the Trojan institution today said it was likely Memorial coliseum, formerly the Olympic stadium, will be filled to its capacity of 105,000 when the teams face each other December 10. Ticket sales increased following Notre Dame's 21-0 victory over Army Saturday.

PREP GRIDDERS END HARD WORK

By Roy White.

With several of their stars on the injured list and fearing that others will be hurt, Boys' High and Tech High football teams concluded the rough work of the week Tuesday as they neared the annual city championship game at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park.

Injuries have reduced both squads to a point where the coaches are taking no more chances. The remainder of the week will be devoted to dummy scrimmages in perfecting new plays and a thorough review of the old plays. Toby Flatau, the sprint star who fractured an ankle several weeks ago, is definitely out of the Tech High lineup, while Bill Ellis, Holcomb and Callaway are not in the best of condition.

Carey McQueen, Otis Maffett and Charley Puleston, of the Boys' High team, are suffering from various ailments and are not in the best of condition. Fitzsimmons and Hayes were not at practice, but will be ready for action Friday afternoon.

Both Coach Tolbert, of Tech High, and Doyal, of Boys' High, are devoting a large part of the time to the reserves, who are likely to see plenty of action in the annual Rose Bowl. The reserve material at both institutions is somewhat limited and the coaches are moving along cautiously as they near Friday afternoon.

Tech High has moved from Piedmont park to a corner of the Henry Grady field and the workouts are carefully guided by assistants. Boys' High continues to work at Piedmont park, with the students acting as guards to keep away any outsiders or students from other schools.

Trojans Seek Michigan Eleven

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(P)—Official of the Rose Bowl Association tonight extended to the University of Southern California an invitation to represent the west again next year in the annual Tournament of Roses football game and Trojan officials accepted.

It was the third time in the last four years that Southern California representatives have indicated a desire to come to Pasadena but a conference rule prohibits post-season games.

It was also indicated, unofficially, that Southern California would wait until December 3 to learn whether the Big Ten might suspend the ruling. Rules of the Tournament of Roses game provide that the western team select its own eastern opponent and Southern California, it was stated, will not extend an invitation until it learns whether Michigan would be able to accept, if a bid were issued.

Atlanta Hunters Return With Deer

A party of Atlanta hunters returned the first of the week with a large buck deer as a result of a week-end hunt near Brunswick, Ga. The buck was killed by "Barney" Coogie, employee of the Southern Bell Telephone Company. The kill was reported to the state game and fish department. Steve Hughes, Frank Oliver, J. H. Hix and Jim Harrison were the other members of the party.

Vinson Expresses Opposition To Army, Navy Consolidation

Georgia Representative, Chairman of Naval Affairs Committee, Confers With Roosevelt.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 29.—Vigorous opposition to any proposal for consolidating the army and navy under a new department of national defense was expressed here today by Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, after a conference with President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Governor Roosevelt is yet to express himself on the proposal, although he is on record in favor of big reductions in governmental expenditures. Consolidation of the two departments is one of the suggestions that has been made for government economies.

Representative Vinson at the same time urged an economical administration of the navy, even to the extent of falling below the annual construction provided for in the London treaty.

Minimizing predicted economies resulting from the proposed army-navy consolidation, the democratic naval expert said money could be saved through merger of various offices and bureaus in each department and creation of a central purchasing agency for both branches of the government.

Whereas the London treaty calls for $600,000,000 worth of new construction, Mr. Vinson advocated approximately $300,000,000 annually for building new ships and taking care of necessary replacements. Although known as a "big navy" man, the Georgia congressman does not believe the budget will permit the expansion urged by certain battleship zealots.

The navy, in his opinion, can be kept shipshape without excessive expenditures.

Although the congressman emphasized that he was speaking his own views, the impression was gained that Mr. Roosevelt's general naval policy contemplates great economy but also preservation of a compact, self-contained fleet based on a conservative view of this country's immediate needs.

It is apparent that Mr. Roosevelt, as a navy expert, is finding many places where economies can be effected. Mr. Vinson had a fairly detailed program for saving fully as much as the $100,000,000 which can be lopped off through the proposed merger in the opinion of advocates of such revision.

"There are many absolute flying fields, navy yards and army posts," said the congressman, "and they can be eliminated. We can set up central buying agencies, not only for the two national defense arms, but for all government departments. Instead of increasing prices by competition from different departments, we can settle on one price, or even get our material by contract."

"Although we must have a real navy and not a paper fleet, there is no question in my mind but that we can save a great deal of money through careful study and revision of the existing straggly system."

Mr. Vinson will leave for the capital in a few days, and he immediately called together his committee to translate these ideas into legislation.

PROBERS ASSAIL 'PACT' IN SLAYING OF GIRL, 15

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Charles Arwine, indicted for the slaying of a 15-year-old girl, today launched a legal fight for his life as police attacked his story that he was the victim of a "suicide pact" confession in the slaying of Frances Remfer, his 15-year-old friend.

The 25-year-old, twice married, unemployed foundry worker, who is quoted by police as saying he shot the girl as he kissed her, has the ground for his defense in a lengthy prison conference with J. Leslie Kilbourne, who entered the case today as counsel at the request of Arwine's five sisters.

Hit that COLD a Dempsey Blow!

Knock it out in the first round!

Don't take a cold lightly or treat it casually. A cold may easily lead to something more serious. Treat a cold quickly. Treat it seriously. Treat it decisively.

First of all, take a COLD remedy for a cold. A cold is a specific condition calling for specific treatment. A remedy that is good for half a dozen things can't be equally effective for a cold. Many people actually feel themselves with popular "cure-alls" because they consume and make the system acid.

Second, take an internal medicine for a cold. A cold is an internal infection and calls for internal treatment. Local, or outside applications can't reach the real seat of the trouble and can't prevent the infection spreading through the system.

Every requirement for quick and decisive relief of a cold is found in Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. YOUNG DEMOCRATS VISIT ROOSEVELT, CONFER ON PLANS

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 29.—Two California delegates to the meeting of the national executive committee of the Young Democratic Clubs of America will be held in Atlanta December 5 and 6, are already in Warm Springs to confer with President-elect Roosevelt on future plans of the Young Democrats. They are Hal Slane, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of California, and his assistant, Charles H. Shreve, both from Los Angeles.

Mr. Roosevelt said that Pinchot in an appearance before the committee had displayed two pictures, taken of the same valley in Northern California at different periods. The one, he said, showed the valley with tree-clad hills, prosperous, and the other a few years later displayed a denuded, treeless landscape with depopulation beginning to set in.

Mr. Roosevelt said that he had come to talk to them because they were persons who were interested in the same thing he was.

He added that his first interest in the problem of putting land to the best use had grown out of his chairmanship of the conservation committee of the New York state legislature and through an association that he had then with Gifford Pinchot, the present governor of Pennsylvania, who at that time had been in the United States forest service.

Cashier Kills Wife, Son And Ends His Own Life

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Apparently in despair because of a shortage in his accounts, Archibald MacCallum, 48, a cashier employed by the Lorillard Tobacco Company, New York, shot and killed his wife and eight-year-old son today and then committed suicide.

The bodies were found in a room of the MacCallum's first-floor apartment at 217 Lincoln avenue.

A written letter which MacCallum had addressed to Sidney Kelly, auditor of his firm, revealed the motive in its mention of the shortage, police said.

DELEGATION OF MARCHERS LEAVES BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Police announced tonight that a delegation of hunger marchers, estimated at about 20, today left the city for Washington, their objective.

With the marchers who came here from New Orleans went an unidentified woman whom police took into custody yesterday when she was found with a quantity of communist literature.

The woman was released today after the marchers promised police that if she was released the group would immediately leave the city. Throughout the time she was held, the unidentified woman refused to identify herself.

Police said that less than 50 of the 500 persons congregated at the old courthouse yesterday when the marchers attempted to hold a meeting were other than "curiosity seekers."

MARCHERS 'ROUNDED UP' BY CHATTANOOGA POLICE

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 29.—(AP)—More than 70 persons, many of them "hunger marchers" on the way to Washington to join in a demonstration before congress, were rounded up here tonight by police and sheriff's officers.

Officials had been notified that the "southern contingent" of marchers would arrive here this afternoon and make a demonstration at the courthouse, but those who did arrive came in small groups and were rounded up by police.

McQuiston, of Texas, who said he was the leader of the marchers, told police only 12 men came from Birmingham with him.

McQuiston was released on bail signed by George W. Chalmers, counsel for the marchers, and "Kil" Kilgore for blocking the plans for the march.

800 EXPECTED TO LEAVE NEW YORK CITY TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Hunger-march leaders said tonight that 800 "hunger marchers" from New York City and New England points would move out of this city by truck tomorrow morning, en route to Washington, D. C.

A contingent of 150 arrived by truck from New England this afternoon. They created a stir as their vehicles, decorated with banners that read "On to Washington" and "No New Deal," rolled down the post road from exclusive Westchester into the city.

Other smaller New England groups were expected to arrive later.

NEW ENGLAND DELEGATION ARRIVES IN YONKERS, N. Y.

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 29.—(UP)—Coming in two motor caravans, 150 "hunger marchers" arrived in Yonkers tonight from points in upstate New York and Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Miss Louise Morrison, of Schenectady, N. Y., one of the marchers, addressed a meeting of about 400 Yonkers citizens gathered in Larkin square. There were seven trucks and two automobiles in the two caravans.

Sandwiches and coffee were provided for the marchers by the Yonkers Citizens' committee, which was organized for the purpose of helping the marchers.

The letter to the bank in New York City indicated that Coffey county had sought to meet an obligation with the certificates. Mr. Powell's letter began:

forth. The wealth of competence and liberalism which the democratic cause this year has enlisted affords a bright prospect for the future of the public service."

The governor recalled that during the campaign he set forth his ideas of needed legislation. These he restated as:

Consolidation and consolidation of the railroads.

Electric power rates at a fair cost. Restoration of normal foreign trade through tariff adjustments.

Joseph Auslander Defines Poets 'Dreamers Who Vision the Future'

Poetry, its meaning and beauty, was the subject of Joseph Auslander, leading American poet, Tuesday night in a lecture before the students of Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Ga.

He spoke on the appreciation of poetry and of poets and said that the wisest statement to come from the White House during the Hoover regime was to the effect that what this country needs is a good poet.

Mr. Auslander, a native of America, has lived in Europe most of his life, but at present is lecturer on poetry at Columbia University. He is the author of several volumes, including "Sunrise Trumpets" and "Cyloped Eye," and also helped to compile the "Winged Horse Anthology," and translated the sonnets of Petrarch.

Though a younger poet in age, Mr. Auslander is a member of the older school in style and manner of expression. His poems are world-wise of beauty and passion. He is one of the most versatile of writers and his poems are of every subject and emotion.

"Poets are men of vision, they have been counselors to kings, they have been the voice of the people on the wall, yet people say in derision, 'The man is mad as a poet' or 'He is only a dreamer,'" asserted Mr. Auslander. "It is those dreamers who vision the future. Joseph, in the Bible, was called only a dreamer, but when there came an economic crisis he was the one who saved Egypt. Shelley was a poet and dreamer, but he fought for oppressed humanity and against the Philistines until he was forced to leave England."

The noted poet read many of his sonnets and extracts from a longer poem called "Steel," the idea of which came to him after working in the steel mills in Pennsylvania.

The first few lines of this poem are:

"This man is dead. Everything you can say is now quite definitely said. This man held up his head And had his day. Then turned his head a little to one way."

And slept instead. . . . The poet uses a novel and distinctive style in reading his works and holds his audience's attention every second of the time. After his lecture was finished he was forced to read several other poems as an encore. Following the lecture, Mr. Auslander was honor guest at a reception at the college given by the students and faculty.

HIGHWAY CREDITS NOT NEGOTIABLE

summing the obligations of any political subdivision, it was thought necessary to amend the constitution so as to permit the payment of its indebtedness by the state highway department to the counties.

This constitutional amendment was submitted to the voters in the November election, and was adopted, and is now part of the constitution of the state.

The letter to Mr. Smith, Mr. Powell pointed out that the constitutional amendment "authorizes the legislature to enact laws necessary to carry into effect the amendment."

The amendment, Mr. Powell said, "authorizes the legislature when it convenes in January, and enabling legislation, which probably be presented to it at that time."

The first such certificate, authorized in the highway act of 1919, was issued December 30, 1922. The constitutional amendment recently adopted authorized the legislature to enact laws "for the purpose of effectually carrying out the foregoing provisions."

The letter to the bank in New York City indicated that Coffey county had sought to meet an obligation with the certificates. Mr. Powell's letter began:

"Your letter of November 25 with reference to obligation of Coffey county, Georgia, which you hold, and in which which they propose to substitute county reimbursement certificates issued by the state highway department of Georgia, has been submitted to me for reply."

The opinion announced by Attorney-General Lawrence Camp pointed out that "the amendment does not state what agency of the state will pay this money. It merely provides for payment out of revenues allocated to the state highway department." Under such wording, the opinion said, "the legislature might designate the highway department as the paying agency, or the state treasurer, or the money may be paid out 'in some other manner.'"

The question of the negotiability of the highway certificates has never come up in the legislature, Mr. Powell said.

There was very little discussion of the subject of highway certificates of indebtedness prior to adoption of the constitutional amendment, the act of 1919 simply providing that the certificates should be paid only after completion of the state highway system. On the face of the certificates, it is not negotiable, but the counties could assign the certificates. I doubt that they could assign the certificates unless the legislature so provides."

The certificates, which do not bear interest, would have to be discounted at a large figure in order for counties to borrow on them, and, while the counties might have a right to sell

3 ATLANTANS SHARE IN ESTATE OF $52,000

Douglas W. Peabody, of 588 Linwood, N. E., and his children, Mrs. Mary Smith and Hardin Peabody, have been named heirs of Mr. Peabody's sister, Miss Emily M. W. Peabody, in a will filed for probate in Hartford, Conn., according to advices received here.

The value of the estate was estimated at $52,000. Mr. Peabody was left income from the residue after certain specific bequests.

The estate, at his death, is to be divided equally between three institutions, including Trinity Episcopal church, Mobile, Ala., where Miss Peabody, formerly was rector. Mrs. Smith and Hardin Peabody were left bequests of $1,000 each. Mr. Peabody contested the admission and said that he might carry an appeal to superior court, according to advices from Hartford.

posed his decision on whom to entrust with the government.

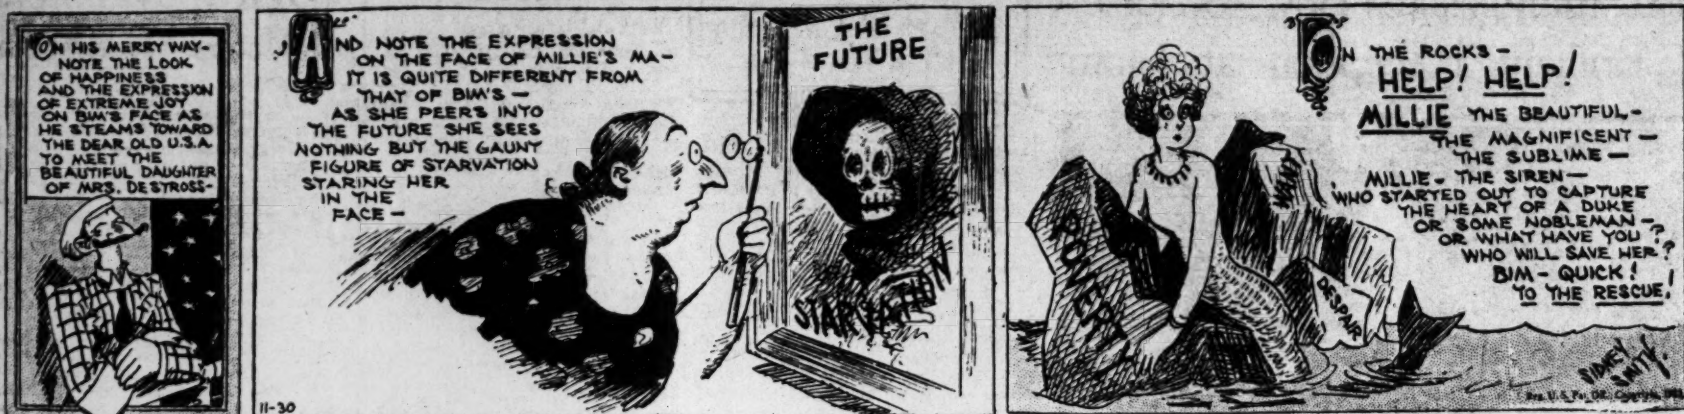

It is the president's desire to achieve a political truce that will last through the winter. He commissioned Acting Chancellor Franz von Papen, General von Schleicher and Dr. Otto Meisner, his political secretary, to determine whether this would be possible, and he received reports from the "free of them today."

Dr. Wilhelm Frick, one of the Hitler lieutenants, informed General von Schleicher that the Nazi party would not support him as head of the government. In view of this declaration, the purpose of the meeting between the defense minister and Hitler tomorrow was not clear.

PARIS LOVE

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Since the death of her husband 10 years previously, Kate Sayers had made $100,000,000 by confining the manufacture in France of the now famous motor car Buick. Alfreda Sayers, whom she knew only as a gigolo and a driver of racing cars, and who was in constant attendance on her, was chief of a gang of jewel thieves. Harriet (Catherine) and Edouard Lejandre, salesmen at Piron's jewelry shop, were members of his gang, which had robbed Piron several times by substituting imitation gems. Mrs. Sayers' daughter, Alacia, had unwittingly thwarted them once by buying a painted pearl necklace before the arrival of an accomplice. Alacia recently had fallen in love at first sight with a handsome young Frenchman whom she learned later was Armand de Pas, Prince d'Orleans, poverty-stricken pretender to the French throne. He was a salesman at Piron's, wearing the stolen necklace, and had been substituted for Mrs. Sayers' fabulous rubies when she took them to Piron's for her own use. Alacia had been told that the real rubies were in the tool box of the Europa racer, San Antonio, an Apache girl, Victorine, to throw the race. Alacia decided to replace him with Armand, but Armand had been arrested because he had handled the rubies. He was detained at the apartment of M. Piron, who was Armand's friend, as was M. Jeannot, Prefet de Police. M. Piron sent for Alacia, who asked M. Jeannot to look up San Antonio's record. He went to the telephone. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XX.

"I am expecting a telephone call from Monsieur De Pas," she told the man. "Be sure to take it yourself and tell Monsieur De Pas that it is vitally important for me to see him at the earliest possible moment. Ask him to come here at once and wait for me. Do you understand clearly? It is extremely important."

"But certainly, Mademoiselle!" Jean assured her.

"And another thing?" Alacia added. "An American gentleman may ring up. His name is Monsieur Le Colonel Brodley. Tell him I am looking for Monsieur De Pas and if he knows where Monsieur De Pas can be found, please give him the message about coming here without delay."

Alacia buttoned her old coat about her and went around to the garage, getting out her racing car. In half an hour's time she was on the open stretch of the Versailles road, her searchlight sweeping the roadside on either hand as she looked for familiar landmarks. She had not driven in this direction since the accident and here she feared that she might miss the chateau and waste time turning back to look for it. The building itself, she remembered, was barely discernible from the road even in broad daylight, while the high stone gate-posts stood well back from the highway, so that to pass the place without noticing it would be an easy matter. There was some consolation, she thought, as she drove along. Armand would now be free to drive to the Monte Carlo race! Even though Santini managed to get away before they could find a legal excuse for stopping him, Armand could go down by train, following close on the heels of an imperious wire to the management of the International Sporting Club. Armand would know how to arrange matters and it could all be settled as soon as she found him, as she surely would within the next few hours! In her excitement at this thought she almost missed her destination after all and had to jam her brakes on suddenly when she got her bearings. There on her left was the big tree, the scar on the trunk where the hub of her wheel had struck it was distinctly visible under her searchlight, and on the right stood the house of the chateau, dark, and forbidding at the beginning of the damp, overgrown driveway.

Swinging her car around, Alacia looked at the entrance with some trepidation. How was she to explain her visit if Armand were not there? Everything she had ever heard about the exclusiveness and inhospitality of the French aristocracy re-occurred to her, and she began to feel a little foolish and sorry at having come uninvited. However, there were fresh tire marks on the damp earth of the road, and the sight gave her courage, for evidently the old driver had gone over the ground only a little while ago, and consequently Armand must be at home! With a tremendous feeling of relief she drove past the mouldy gates and headed up the winding, mysterious driveway between the thick trees.

It was pitch dark by now, yet there was no light showing in the somber chateau which presently loomed before her at the end of an open court. The place looked completely deserted, as if it had been uninhabited for years; the lawn had been allowed to run wild, and the few flower beds showed signs of neglect. The house itself had a singularly mournful air and several of the upper windows had been permanently boarded up, while even those on the lower floors were tightly shuttered against the night air, after the usual French manner. But on the cobblestones of the little courtyard Armand's old car stood packed nose to tail with several of the main entrance, a humorously reassuring sight in an otherwise unfamiliar and antagonistic setting. Alacia brought her own magnificent automobile to a standstill beside it and, giving the old driver an affectionate pat in passing, ran up the shallow steps and knocked on the door.

For a long while it seemed as if there was to be no reply, but at length Alacia could hear steps shuffling across a paved floor inside. There was the sound of a heavy bolt being drawn, and presently the door swung open to disclose the bent figure of a very old man, carrying a lighted lamp. Behind him was an immense hall, thick with weird, fluttering shadows. "Bon soir," said Alacia, a little disconcerted. "May I see Monsieur Armand, please?"

"Monsieur le Prince is not here," said the man suspiciously. "What was it that you wanted, Mademoiselle?"

"But he must be here!" cried Alacia. "His car is just outside. And it's terrible cold here, for me to see him. Tell him it is Mademoiselle Sayers."

"Monsieur le Prince is not here," the man insisted. "We receive no one without appointment."

"But I am a friend!" Alacia cried with a curious sense of futility. "I have the most urgent reasons for seeing him. If you will only let him know who it is, I am certain he will receive me." But the old man stood between her and entrance with a determination which was perfectly apparent.

"He is not here, Mademoiselle," said the servant. And to Alacia's further astonishment he started to close the door. This was more than human patience could endure and almost as much to her own amazement, as to that of the ancient servant, she suddenly raised her voice in a piercing call.

"Armand! Armand!" she cried at the top of her voice. "It is I, Alacia! I need you! Armand!"

The sound of it echoed terrifically through the huge hall and a second figure soon came flying down the dark stairs in alarm. It was a woman this time, a stout, elderly woman in a black dress, a little knitted shawl clutched about her shoulders. She pushed the old man aside quite as though she was accustomed to dealing with similar emergencies, and seizing Alacia by the arm dragged her into the light.

"Madame!" she said harshly, "who are you who cry the Prince's name into the night?"

"I am a friend!" said Alacia, humbly enough. "Please believe me!"

"What has happened to His Highness?" demanded the woman. "Have you brought news of him for all the time he has been away?"

"News?" asked Alacia. "Then it is true that he is not here?"

"He is not here," the woman answered. "Something has happened." She lowered her voice. "Is it that the time has come at last?" she whispered.

At first Alacia did not understand. Then a light broke upon her. The woman was actually asking her, Alacia Sayers, if the royalist uprising had begun! And yet up to that very moment Alacia had completely forgotten who and what her lover was! The pretender! His Highness! Of course! He accounted for all the mystery, the carefully barricaded house, the caution about admitting guests, these two old servants were doubtless faithful souls who were earnestly playing at conspiracy against the French republic, and hoping for a theoretical day of restoration. It was almost incredible, yet it must be so. However, there remained the empty car, still unexplained. Alacia gathered her wits together and made another effort.

"Madame," she said, "I know something has happened to His Highness, but I am not sure what. That is why I came. How does it happen that the car is here if he is not? He drove it into Paris this morning as usual, I suppose?" The woman nodded.

"A boy brought it back about an hour ago," she said. "A young chauffeur in a monkey's uniform. He merely said that Monsieur le Prince would not be home tonight, but later on he would write a letter. Then the chauffeur left the car and went away. That is all we know."

"Are you positive?" Alacia asked. "It is very curious that he should promise to write! However, I suppose there is nothing to be done but wait. And when he comes back, will you say that Alacia must see him as soon as possible? He will understand!"

Evidently the carrying of anonymous messages was no novelty to the woman, for she accepted the commission without comment. Then at this point a door at the back of the hall opened to emit a flood of pale light, and silhouetted against it stood the figure of a woman with snow-white hair. Her tall, thin figure was slightly bowed, and from her elaborate costume a cloud of white lace descended like mist. She leaned heavily on an ebony cane, with which she tapped gently on the floor to attract attention. Her voice came from the room across the echoing hall. Unquestionably, thought Alacia, this must be Armand's mother.

"Madame," she murmured three times. "I have a message from Monsieur le Prince. He is not here, but he will be back tomorrow. He will be able to get you an audience!"

The door was closed firmly upon the pitiful little comedy within that gaunt house, and Alacia, perhaps, climbed into her car and turned back toward Paris, more worried and puzzled than when she had set out.

Mrs. Hinman Plans Christmas Tableaux For Woman's Club Arts Department

Mrs. George B. Hinman, chairman of the Atlanta Woman's Club, will present a series of Christmas tableaux and "living pictures" in the auditorium of the club Sunday afternoon, December 4, at 3 o'clock. These tableaux will depict "The Annunciation," "The Shepherds Abiding in the Fields" and the "Nativity." Brilliant lighting, beautiful staging and unusual festive arrangements will be featured. Mrs. Hinman, assisted by Mrs. Frank Miller, has been at work on the tableaux since early fall and each character has been carefully selected for his or her fitness for a particular role.

Several months ago a series of "living pictures" was presented and there have been many requests for another showing. Mrs. Hinman has arranged to present again four of the original "pictures" and has selected one especially appropriate to the season. Sir Joshua Reynolds' famous and lovely "Duchess of Devonshire," so beautifully portrayed by Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, will be seen as will his quaint "Strawberry Girl," posed by little Virginia Boynton. Reynolds' "Age of Innocence" will be portrayed by little Isabelle Bryan, and the portrait of Whistler's mother will be posed by Mrs. A. McD. Wilson. Concluding this series will be three interpretations of Fra Angelico's angels posed by Misses Lida Mell, Dorothy Hinman and Elma Harwell. The public is invited to attend this program for which there will be no charge for admission.

Literature division of the club will meet Thursday, December 1, at 3 o'clock in the palm room of the clubhouse, with Mrs. W. F. Melton, chairman, presiding. Mrs. Robert Blackburn will present a Christmas program, and carols will be sung. Plans for the bazaar will be discussed and a committee will be organized. A member of the division, in response to roll call, to give a favorite Christmas greeting.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

This column receives scores of unsigned letters from correspondents who ask that their letters be printed immediately. The reason the column is syndicated and distributed over a wide area is that it is impossible to print a letter for several weeks after it is received. Many of these letters contain problems of general interest and are of personal and intimate character and are not suitable for publication in the column. Only problems of general interest can be dealt with through the newspapers. Any correspondence dealing with a specific individual or family is not suitable for publication. If it is so enclosed a self-addressed and stamped envelope. We would like to assure those writing for a second and third time that there is no need for apology. We welcome all letters, as friendly counsel is intended to help its readers, as best it can, to find a solution of any pressing problem that is submitted. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: For the first four years of our married life I worked and made all my own expenses. Since business has been so dull I haven't had a job. My husband, too, has had bad luck, working only about six months out of the year. During the time he was idle I did everything I could to cut expenses and to encourage him. I even learned to wash and iron and do the hard housework. During all this time he was excessively irritable and unreasonable, though I understood that it was due to the stress of circumstances, for he is not a mean person. Three months ago I was called out of town for a few hours and when I returned he had packed up his belongings and had left me a note saying that he loved me but he must get away or go mad. We had not had an unpleasant word. It seemed to me that life had stopped stark still, for he was my world. We have never been about much, just stayed at home together. That same night he returned saying he loved me more than he had realized and that he knew his going would crush me. Nowadays when anything goes wrong he threatens me with leaving again and holds the horror of it over my head continually.

He has taken to going around with a fast crowd, people that are not careful about their morals. He insists that I go with them but when I go I am a wet blanket. I refuse to do the things that the other women do, which means that I go home early and he follows later to reproach me with falling down on him. My former friends are beginning to drop me out and I can't make a place for myself with these loose livers. What shall I do—go with him and try to hold on to him?

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Rules for correct bidding of hands will work most of the time. The good bridge player is one who knows when to break the rules and by so doing reach a makable contract which he ordinarily would be unable to attain. For instance, one of the accepted rules is that a five-card suit should always be bid in preference to a four-card suit, provided both are bid. However, if the holder of the North cards on the hand below had seen fit to break this rule, he and his partner would probably have reached the makable Slam contract, which they did not do.

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding (as it actually occurred):
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	2♣	Pass
3♣	Pass	3NT(1)	Pass
Pass(2)	Pass

1—North has bid the hand quite normally up to this point. On the first round of bidding he bid his five-card diamond suit in preference to his four-card spade suit. Now that South bid three clubs, he is on the spot. He does not know whether his partner's suits are of five-card length or whether they are only four-card suits. He does not know if they are rebiddable. In fact, he knows very little about his partner's hand. He fears that if he bids three spades, South may conceivably pass, or for want of a better bid, may raise his spades on only three or may bring him back to four diamonds, and he does not want to play the hand at five diamonds. The three no-trump bid seems to be making the best of a bad situation.

2—South has no choice but to pass. His hand contains only 3-1-2 honors, and his partner's bidding indicates that he is particularly strong. It appears dangerous to take the hand beyond the level of three no-trumps into a doubtful club or heart game, as his partner may not have a fit in either of the suits.

3—There was an opportunity for North to break a rule. If he had done so, he and his partner would have surely reached a Slam contract in hearts. It is my opinion that on the first round of bidding North's proper response was one spade. The reason for this is that on hands of this type—that is, with unbalanced distribution containing two or more biddable suits—as many rounds of bidding should be preserved as possible. The one spade bid, besides being 99 per cent. forcing, will keep the bidding considerably lower than the two diamond bid. Assuming North to have responded with one spade, the bidding would probably have proceeded as follows:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♣	Pass	2♠	Pass
2♥	Pass	4♥(1)	Pass
5♥(2)	Pass	6♥(3)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—By now North knows the true nature of South's hand—in other words, that his heart suit is rebiddable and of at least five cards. Holding a singleton club and control of the other two suits, he immediately contracts for game in hearts.

2—Holding a strong two-suiter and a fit with one of North's suits, South sees hope for a Slam. After North's double raise, his five heart bid asks North to bid six on any slight additional values.

3—North is quite convinced of the solidity of South's hearts and raises to six. He believes that if a heart trick is lost, there is a good chance no others will be, while there is a fair chance that not even one trump trick will be lost, and thus a loser in another suit will still permit the Slam to be made.

Miss Smith Makes Bow to Society At Brilliant Reception at Home

Miss Elinor Smith's formal presentation to Atlanta society was made at the brilliant reception given Tuesday by her mother, Mrs. W. R. C. Smith, at her Inman circle residence. Several hundred members of the married and unmarried contingents of society called to meet the charming debutante between 4 and 6 o'clock. The interior of the handsome home was beautified with stately palms, ferns, foliage plants and colorful flowers. The stairway was entwined with smilax, and smilax was garlanded on the mantels and window ledges.

A graceful arrangement of palms and ferns formed the background for the receiving party, composed of Mrs. Smith, Miss Smith, Mrs. Carroll Smith and Mrs. B. Carter, who stood in the music room to receive the guests. Countless bouquets and baskets of flowers sent to Miss Smith added to the decorative effect and were a testimony of the debutante's popularity, among a wide circle of admiring friends. Little Miss Carroll, niece of the debutante, received the cards at the door, and wore a frock of pink chiffon trimmed with French flowers.

Lovely Miss Smith, whose beauty is of the blonde type, was gowned in aquamarine blue crepe fashioned with a new high neckline in front and cut low in the back, the waist-line in crystals and the skirt moulding her slender figure to the knees, from which point it flared in graceful folds. She wore a shoulder spray of pink orchids and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of orchids encircled with pink roses.

The bouquet was the gift of members of Mrs. Smith's bridge club, in which she has held membership for 12 years.

Mrs. Smith wore a costume of flat black tulle with a waist embroidered with short sleeves were fashioned by a berth of duchess lace, which was worn by Mrs. Smith on her wedding day. A shoulder bouquet of orchids completed her effective costume.

Mrs. Carroll Smith was gowned in black velvet and wore a shoulder bouquet of gardenias. Mrs. Carter wore red flat crepe, trimmed in platinum fox fur, and she wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Miss Joyce Smith, sub-debut sister of the debutante, was also present. Mrs. Price Gilbert and her daughter, Mrs. Francis Gilbert, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the home of the former on Wesley road as a complimentary gesture to Mrs. Inman Brandon, a recent bride.

A charming arrangement of premier roses adorned the luncheon table, and covers were placed for 12 members of the young matron contingent.

Mrs. Brandon was formerly Miss Louise Glancy, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., who married her husband, Mr. Brandon took place November 24.

Kirkwood Civic League members will sponsor "The Carolina Tarheels" at Kirkwood school auditorium on Thursday evening, December 1, at 8 o'clock.

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The bond market today finished a rather indifferent session with a relatively steady tone. The United States government section was fairly firm and active throughout, but net changes generally were fractional and unimportant.

Sales totaled $7,511,000, par value, while the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds eased one-tenth of a point.

The market was able to withstand another sharp break in the British pound sterling, but it was not so low as last week, and estimates that freight loadings for the past week would show a decline.

In the foreign department British 1-2s provided the principal turnover with an early weakness and subsequent rally to 102, a net gain of 1-4 of a point.

Railway loans were generally quiet, but Northern Pacific's new 4s and 5s issues of this road were off fractions to more than 4 points. Issues of Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific and American Telephone held around their year's high marks. Postal Telegraph, Studebaker and Youngstown Sheet & Tube advanced.

Shell Union and Sinclair oil bonds were up a point or more.

SUGAR, COFFEE, RICE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Coffee was steady today on trade and European buying. Spot prices declined 1 point from last previous sale for the same grades. Sales confirmed included 15,000 bags of Cuban for prompt delivery and 10,000 bags of Philippine for March-April shipment at 2.80 and 18,000 bags of Philippine for April-May shipment.

The earlier tone of the spot market caused considerable irregularity in futures. Price changes were narrow and the market crop not unchanged to 2 points lower. The opening was 1 higher than the previous day's closing.

The market on the whole presented a steady, unexciting picture. A reflection of the better technical position. Apparent sales were steady, but not strong. Demand was light.

IMPROVED TONE

IS NOTED ON CURB

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The curb market continued quiet today, but a better tone was evident and a majority of leading stocks recording fractional net advances. Transfers totaled 140,000 shares against 120,000 shares yesterday.

The utilities offered resistance. American Gas & Electric was a soft spot, declining more than a point from its fairly active turnover.

Electric Bond & Share dipped a scant fraction but American Super-Power closed unchanged. United Light & Heat "A" gained a substantial fraction.

Oil shares were in somewhat better demand. Humble declined a small fraction, but Gulf was steady. Standard Oil of Indiana and Standard of Kentucky registered small gains.

Aluminum and Great Atlantic & Pacific both gained a point. Swift was up a fraction. The Swift issues recorded slightly.

Highlights of Wall Street

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—In the absence of favorable news the general stock market continued dull today, with price fluctuations minor within narrow ranges. Pivotal issues closed with small net losses. There was practically no demand for stocks and impatient sellers had to take concessions.

Establishment of a new low record for the pound sterling had a depressing influence and served to deter speculators from making new commitments on a rising market. A new low for the pound sterling had a depressing influence and served to deter speculators from making new commitments on a rising market.

There was considerable conjecture in the Street as to the effect of the new low for the pound sterling had a depressing influence and served to deter speculators from making new commitments on a rising market.

The most unfavorable feature of the steady decline in the English pound sterling lies in its influence on the world's commodities. The French franc also was under pressure today and touched a new low for the year.

The day of the extra dividend seems to have passed with most companies deciding this is no time to declare extra payments even if earned.

However, the disbursement of extra dividends accounted for much of the skyrocketing of stocks in the last big boom in the market.

Corporations in general seem to have adopted a policy of omitting stock dividends. It should be recalled, however, that the disbursement of extra dividends accounted for much of the skyrocketing of stocks in the last big boom in the market.

JUSTICE OUSTED IN TRAGEDY

Italian Consul Presses Inquiry in Triple Deaths at Cedar Key, Fla.

CEAR KEY, Fla., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Removal of T. W. Brewer, justice of the peace, by Governor Doyle E. Carlton was announced today as an investigation continued in the deaths of three Tarpon Springs sponge fishermen, whose charred bodies were found in the ruins of the little wooden jail here.

Acting on orders of the Italian consul general at New Orleans, a consular agent of that government, and prominent leaders of the Greek colony at Tarpon Springs pressed special inquiries into the deaths.

Brewer and Thomas Booth, special constable, were placed in jail at Bronson following a secret cornerer's inquest. They were unable to furnish bond of $10,000 each. No specific charges were posted against them pending resumption of the coroner's inquest at Bronson tomorrow.

Booth was transferred to the jail at Gainesville today. The sheriff at Bronson said this move was made to separate Booth and Brewer, the jail there not providing facilities to keep them apart.

Acting upon a request of J. C. Adkins, state attorney, the governor suspended Brewer for "misfeasance, malfeasance, incompetency and drunkenness."

Adkins said there was evidence gasoline had been sprayed on the outside of the little jail where Starks Johnson, 27; Theodore Starks, 24, and George Georgion, 38, all Italian citizens, had been incarcerated on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

'Al' Smith Wins Cheers In 'Debut' as Soloist

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP)—With knees shaking and voice trembling, "Al" Smith made his debut tonight as a soloist.

Before a thousand men and women at a benefit "community sing," the political warrior staked his vocal fame on a husky rendition of his famous campaign song, "The Sidewalks of New York."

The song was an old one to him. He had heard it in dozens of states from California to New England when he was running for president in 1928. But he had never sung a public solo before.

The affair had all the aspects of an opera premier. Men were in evening dress, women in jewels and low-cut gowns. The applause for "Al" was thunderous.

Blast Wrecks Church, Electrician Is Killed

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 29.—(AP)—An explosion in the boiler room of the new Court Street Methodist church here today killed Montgomery's electrician, critically injured a contractor, and sent the structure's stately walls crashing in ruins.

Church officials said the building, erected at a cost of $140,000, was a total loss.

Fred Miller, city electrician, supervising installation of the electrical equipment, struck a match near a leaking gas pipe and caused the blast. He was instantly killed and Adkin Mosely, 31, electrical contractor, was seriously injured by flying debris that physicians fear he will die.

POSTAL RECEIPTS DROP 1.20 PER CENT IN 50 U. S. CITIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—In its first announcement of postal receipts since rates were increased last July 6, the postoffice department said today that 50 selected cities had shown a reduction in revenue "of but 1.20 per cent."

Using a mathematical formula, the department estimated the higher rates, including three cents on first-class mail, had produced in the 50 cities $12,133,193 of revenue in excess of the amount that had been expected under the old rates.

At the same time, Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general, lifted restrictions which had been imposed on postmasters throughout the country against making public the postal receipts.

Postmaster E. K. Large Tuesday night said that while he did not have his figures available at his home, the Atlanta postoffice receipts will "run about the same as the national average."

FORMER HUSBAND OF ATLANTAN HELD ON BIGAMY CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Patrick James Kelly, 35, is in jail here today on a bigamy complaint because his young bride, Pauline Gallagher Kelly, was careful, in her household duties.

The arrest was made at San Bernardino and officers said in their investigation of Kelly's past they learned he served five years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for bigamy.

That was in the World War period, when, according to authorities, he married Irene Flynn, of Atlanta, and Julia Kingston, of New York, simultaneously.

The present case developed after Mrs. Pauline Kelly, going through the pockets of her husband's suit preparatory to sending it to the cleaner, found a slip of paper inscribed, "Mrs. Viola Kelly, Little Rock, Ark."

That, she decided, would be Pat's mother. "I'll write to her," she decided.

The answer told the Los Angeles bride that Mrs. Kelly was not the mother, but a prior wife.

The Los Angeles Mrs. Kelly filed a complaint and Kelly was found at San Bernardino.

Kelly and Pauline Gallagher were married last September 28 at Yuma, Ariz. The alleged prior marriage was said to have taken place several years ago.
